Terms of dump study approved by county

Haliburton County has finally approved terms for a waste management study that will investigate waste disposal methods and identify future dump sites in the county.

County council voted 16-10 in favour of awarding an $18,588 contract for the study to the Toronto consulting firm of Greer Galloway and Associates. Representatives from Cardiff, Glamorgan and Monmouth all voted against the study, as did Snowdon Reeve Bob Vick and Dysart Deputy Reeve Harold Bannon. Many councillors have repeatedly said that the study is unnecessary.

Terms of reference for the study were outlined by consultants from Greer Galloway during a 30 minute presentation to council. The report presented by the firm cites the objectives of the study as providing "the most economic system for the handling, transportation, processing and disposal of solid waste generated within the area," including "source separation, material and energy recovery as an integral part of the waste management strategy."

The consultants' report also identifies five basic approaches for forming the county waste management plan:

- 1) Assess capacity of existing waste management system to meet future needs;
- 2) Incorporate future population growth and changes in waste generation bearing in mind seasonal variations of population;

- 3) Evaluate the effects of using different modes of disposal;

- 4) Develop the most economical methods to meet both budgetary limits and environmental standards;

- 5) Produce a series of options for waste management systems over a twenty year planning horizon.

Some councillors have been reluctant to endorse the study since it was first recommended several months ago by the Ministry of the Environment, which will provide 50% funding for the project. Representatives from smaller townships in the county have felt that provincial government regulations would hamper existing management practices at dump sites in the county. Councillors have also said that, because any potential dump sites identified in the study will require additional testing before they become operational, the study would be redundant and therefore a waste of county funds.

Representatives from Greer Galloway and the MOE were present at the county session to field questions on the study. Greg Sheeky of Greer Galloway, who will be project manager for the study, said in response to a question from Snowdon Deputy Reeve John Francis, that the study will identify potential dump sites in all municipalities in the county. He also told Sherborne Reeve Fred Baum that municipal councils will be consulted by Greer Galloway in the course of the study. "Councils are a great source of ideas and input," Sheeky told Baum. "If asked, we will definitely attend council sessions to inform councils of study procedures."

Snowdon Deputy Reeve John Francis expressed fear that in identifying potential

Snowdon man dies in car mishap

A tragic accident April 21 has taken the life of a Snowdon Township man.

Dead is Gary Henry Robinson of Lot 30, Concession 14, Snowdon Township. The man had just turned 41 years of age.

The accident occurred on Highway 519 two and a half miles north of the junction with Highway 118 in Guilford Township. The isolated location of the mishap meant that it was close to an hour before help could be summoned to the scene. The accident took place at 11 p.m.

The driver of the van was Linda Marie Robinson, 34, the wife of the victim. The vehicle left the roadway and struck a telephone pole roadside, throwing Mr. Robinson from the van. The victim was taken to Haliburton Red Cross Hospital and died there of multiple internal injuries approximately an hour and a half later.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, there were five other passengers in the vehicle. Joanne and Ben Marchand were transferred to Peterborough Civic Hospital with serious injuries. Brian Nicholson, Gordon and Tim Robinson and the driver were less seriously injured.

It was the first traffic fatality in the county of 1982.

The accident was investigated by Constable Wim Magee.

Fire department makes good use of new pagers

The Minden Fire Department began using a new pager system Friday and by Sunday evening they had really put the $5000 system to the test: the Minden firefighters put out three grass fires that burned a total of nearly 17 acres on the weekend and the pagers were used on all three calls.

Minden's new system is the first of its kind in Ontario. The department now has 10 pagers — valued at $425 apiece — all of which are controlled by a central telepager at the base station in Minden.

The paging system, manufactured by Motorola and Design Electronics, allows the paggers to be activated by any conventional telephone within range of the units. Fire Chief 'Deke' Jackson says he or any member of the department can simply dial a number from their home telephone to activate five 82-decibel beeps on all ten pagers. The caller then has 25 seconds in which to give a spoken message regarding the fire. The message is transmitted through the telepager to all the pager units.

Chief Jackson says the system works well so far, and the weekend was ample proof. "Gary Brown was out with his wrecker Sunday, turning off Hawk Lake Road onto Highway 35," Jackson explained to The Times, Tuesday. "He got the call on a grass fire from fifteen miles away, and the system is only rated for a radius of 8 to 10 miles," Jackson said.

According to Deputy Chief Don Booth, the system has capabilities the department hadn't thought of before putting it into operation Friday. "We can trigger the pagers from the hand set in the tanker truck," Booth explained following the weekend's action. "At the Snowdon fire our men were separated by quite a distance. At a structural fire we're

Appeals planned by cottage groups to by-law

The new zoning by-law passed by Minden council March 10 is drawing objections from Cottagers' Associations in Anson, Hindon and Minden townships. Several are planning to launch formal appeals against the document before the April 30 deadline.

Lewis McCorriston of the Soyers Lake Cottagers' Association told The Times Monday that his group plans to file an appeal objecting to the by-law and that all members are being encouraged to do so on an individual basis as well. McCorriston's chief complaint is the 25 metre lake frontage shoreline allowance for lots in R3 zones. "I've been told by clerk-treasurer Elinor Burke that the 25 metre allowance is a mistake, that it wasn't intended, but the by-law certainly shouldn't have been allowed to reach this point with the mistake intact; it shouldn't happen at this level," McCorriston said.

Burke and Minden councillors have said that the 25 metre allowance in R3 was actually intended to be 40 metres. "I do expect that it will be corrected to 40 metres," Burke told The Times last week. Burke said she expects objections before the April 30 deadline this Friday.

McCorriston is also disappointed in the residential zoning scheme; "I really can't see a great deal of difference between R3, R4 and R5," he said. "I don't know what they were trying to accomplish by them," he added. McCorriston was pleased, however, that council has removed restrictions on occupancy in residential zones.

James Pink of Brady Lake Association says his group will also appeal the by-law and he's not so sure occupancy restrictions have been removed. "We are mostly zoned R4 and R5 on Brady Lake. There's no provision for us to upgrade to R3 and we want to guard against that," Pink said.

A contentious issue when the by-law was being formulated was whether the new provisions would allow cottagers to take up permanent residence in the area. Many have indicated a desire to use their cottages as retirement homes.

An earlier draft of the by-law classified most shoreline property recreational-residential. Cottage owners expressed concern that this zoning would limit the use of their property to recreational use only.

Morgan Loucks of the Canning Lake Association says the 25 metre footage in R3 doesn't concern Canning Lake because only a few lots on the lake are undeveloped. "We don't propose to object, but I personally will file an objection in order to be informed of OMB proceedings on the R3 frontage issue," Loucks said. He added that seasonal residential and shoreline residential zones in Snowdon and Stanhope respectively are zones he doesn't want to see in Minden: "We don't need that here," he commented; "It all smacks of second class citizenry to me," he added.

Group seeks local support

Two Minden women are appealing to citizens of Haliburton County for support in forming a local anti-nuclear lobby group.

Sonya Holliday-Rhodes and Louise Watson were both inspired to form the group by a meeting of Muskoka Concerned Citizens April 18. According to a statement released this week by Mrs. Holliday-Rhodes, several people have responded to a report of the Muskoka meeting published in The Times April 21, and she now feels there is enough interest in the county to warrant the formation of a similar group in Haliburton County.

A meeting will be held shortly to set up an executive for the organization, to be named "People for Peace". Organizers are inviting enquiries from people interested in the project. Mrs. Holliday-Rhodes can be reached at 286-3122, and Mrs. Watson at 489-2359.

sites for hazardous wastes, the study could open the door for hazardous wastes being brought into the county: "If these sites are identified on paper, it will be an invitation to others to come in and dump. It could give them a toe-hold in the county," Francis said.

Sheeky responded by saying that "the MOE has decided that operations that produce hazardous waste are responsible for disposing it." "Our terms of reference are to look at Haliburton and the kind of waste that is produced there, not outside," Sheeky said. "There is no hazardous waste and no liquid waste identified in the study proposals," he added.

Consultants told council that the study is expected to take 22 weeks to complete, with the final report being presented to council September 22 of this year.

In voting against the study, Snowdon Reeve Bob Vick said, "I voted against the study before, and I'm standing my ground." Warden Ron Gambell responded saying, "Maybe it will be the ground where the next dump site will be opened."

3 townships lose votes

Council agrees to alter county voting strength

Municipal representation at County Council will undergo changes if the new Haliburton Act, the legislation that will drop the county's provisional status, is passed by the provincial government this year.

County councillors voted in favour of dropping one vote each from Cardiff, Monmouth and Snowdon townships on recorded votes conducted at county council. All municipal reeves and deputy reeves will continue to sit on council.

The move is the result of months of consideration by the budget committee, which began seeking a fairer form of representation on county council late last year. The new voting system is intended to shift more voting power to the municipalities paying the greatest share of the county budget.

Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman, whose township will lose one vote under the new system, told council he was resigned to the change. "It's a compromise we may have to accept. It is important to keep more than one representative from each municipality," Tallman said during debate over the new system.

Stanhope Reeve and Budget Committee chairman Jim Harrison agreed that dual representation from each municipality was important: "We have too many committees on council to give up the deputy reeves; we need the work force," he said. Referring to the uneven distribution of votes at council, Harrison told council, "the tail is wagging the dog right now and we're being selfish about it." At earlier meetings this year, councillors rejected the formula for representation outlined in section 27 A of the Municipal Act, which would have removed the deputy reeves of townships with populations under 2500 from county council.

Cardiff Reeve Malcolm McGillivray and Snowdon Reeve Bob Vick were both opposed to the change. McGillivray, who registered the only nay vote against the move, told council that under the new system he would "only have to come to every other meeting," since he and his deputy reeve would only have one vote between them.

Snowdon's Bob Vick said he was satisfied with the current system: "Our township has already sent a resolution against this change. 'I don't believe in changes for the sake of changes; I think it's O.K. the way it is,'" he said.

The new system will not change the number of members at county council, which will remain at 19 - one reeve and deputy reeve from each of the county's ten municipalities and one representative from the Improvement District of Bicroft.

Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey told council that the new voting system would only be instituted if and when the new Haliburton Act is passed by the provincial legislature. In a report presented later in the Wednesday session, Fearrey told council that the Ministry of Municipal Affairs is working with the Budget Committee to establish new proposals for the Haliburton Act. "The Haliburton Act is out of date," Fearrey said, "and it has to be updated. Without a new Haliburton Act the county could become fragmented; we could eventually become part of Peterborough. The new act will solidify the county," he said.

Fearrey called the new voting scheme a 'compromise'. He told council, "It's a move at least. It doesn't give any township anywhere close to full voting representation. Although we're paying 60% of the bills, we still only have 40% of the vote," Fearrey commented.

Strong winds fan grass fire

An unattended barbecue is being blamed for starting a fire that blackened five acres of grass land on the east side of Deep Bay Road in Minden on the weekend.

Deputy Fire Chief Don Booth says Bruce Dudman lit a fire in a brick built barbecue Sunday and left it burning unattended. According to Booth, flames from the barbecue ignited dry grass nearby and strong westerly winds caused the fire to spread quickly.

The fire started in the extreme west corner of the five acre site, near the municipal pumping station on Deep Bay Road. Ten firefighters from the Minden department took two hours to bring the blaze under control.

The acreage is owned by Hyland Estates and because the land is usually burned off by the Minden Fire Department each year, there is no estimate of damage in the blaze. Booth says that the Minden department normally burns off the area at this time each year, but never when wind conditions are as strong as they were Sunday.

Pagers perform

usually close enough to one another to communicate verbally, but in Snowdon we were able to use the truck radio to give directions to men wearing their pagers," Booth commented.

The Snowdon fire was the biggest of the weekend, burning 11 acres of grass land in the two hours it took the fighters to put it out. The blaze started when a brush fire got out of control and spread to surrounding grass. A small fire in Concession 6 of Anson township took the Minden department only 15 minutes to extinguish; only one eighth of an acre was burned in the fire.

Booth says the Minden department plans additional work to the communications system that will further boost their transmitting range. Beginning in May, the 100 foot transmitting antenna at the Minden base station will be raised 100 feet, and the transmitting equipment at the station will be extensively rewired. Booth says the total cost of the improvements, together with the pager system and a new truck radio will be in the neighbourhood of $7000.

Required reading

April 30 is the deadline for filing objections to the revised edition of the zoning by-law for Anson, Hindon and Minden townships. A number of groups and individuals have already expressed concern over certain provisions of the document. In particular, the provision which allows a minimum frontage of 25 metres (81 feet approximately) in R3 zones, (most cottage areas) has disturbed a number of people.

They point out the current by-law allows a minimum of 100 feet and reducing it to 81 feet would be a step backward. According to one council spokesman, the 25 metre limit was an error and the provision should be 40 metres (130 feet).

That may indeed be the case, but as the by-law now stands, 25 metres is what has been proposed. To be altered the Ontario Municipal Board must be made aware of residents opposition to the reduced limit.

Other parts of the by-law, the document which will be used as the main guide to development in the municipality during the next ten years or more, deserve careful scrutiny. The importance of the by-law should not be underestimated. It should be required reading for all taxpayers before the April 30 deadline.

Letters

Editor:

Your paper (April 14) is to be commended for publishing both an article on global disarmament, and Mrs. L. Watson's letter re: the testing of the Cruise Missile in Canada. Both topics may appear to have little or no relevance to Haliburton County. Yet, you considered them important enough to bring to our attention.

Actually, it is difficult to imagine how anyone with access to modern media can be unaware of, and indifferent to, the ways in which our global community can be almost instantly devastated by humans' horrific weapons. Perhaps it is due to the nature and magnitude of such monstrous menaces that we may wish to ignore them. At least, we may not want to consider them "a local issue", as if our little spot on earth is insignificant, even independent or unrelated to the rest of the planet. Surely we don't believe that if the large urban centres are eradicated in the blast, we would continue unaffected. Consequently, concerns about nuclear overkill, military madness, existing especially between the super-powers, would be a primary local issue in our county, and in all commun-

Contenders

They gave it their best shot, and for that the Haliburton Midgets can be justly proud.

Battling back from a 3 - 0 deficit in the best of seven series, they forced their Langton counterparts to fight all the way to the end, before claiming the title of All-Ontario Midget champions.

The Haliburton team proved it had what it takes to be a contender, and that in retrospect, is what matters most.

The players, managers, coaches, officials and parents are to be congratulated for providing an exciting finish to the 1981-82 hockey season.

Campaign starts for TVO

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

I hope that very soon we will be able to organize a campaign to focus attention on the desire of the people of Haliburton County to receive T.V. Ontario. There are a number of facts and figures that everyone should be aware of, and I hope to have them available soon. In the meantime, it is important that the new Ministry of Citizenship & Culture be made aware of the citizens' wishes. The best way to let this be known is simply to write to the Honourable Bruce McCaffrey, Minister of Citizenship & Culture, Queen's Park, Toronto, and tell him you wish to have this facility in the Haliburton County area. I have spoken with the Minister and he would like to have an indication of support. I will have more information soon.

Skin Doctor Pavel Kozak
Liberal House Leader Robert Nixon asked the Minister of Health about a report that the "Crisco Kid" doctor, Pavel Kozak, was going to Chicago from West Germany. This doctor has successfully treated nearly a dozen Canadians for a skin disease, epidermolysis bullosa, which is deemed incurable in Canada. The Minister stated that the government has never invited the doctor to move to Toronto, and set up a clinic. Its only offer to Kozak was to be an occasional consultant to the $900,000 skin disease treatment program being established at the University of Toronto.

Suncor West German deal

Recently, a West German firm was awarded a $1.3 million contract by Suncor for equipment that an Orillia firm, which has laid off 120 workers, can produce. The Minister of Energy stated that Fahremet Ltd., of Orillia, was one of three companies given one day's notice to bid on the order for centrifugal castings, destroyed by a fire at Suncor's Fort McMurray oil sands project. The third company was American. He said the West German company won the competition because it had the lowest bid and could meet critical delivery requirements. So much for Ontario's influence with Suncor, even though they own 25%.

New licencing arrangements

Under legislation introduced by the Minister of Transportation, the province's vehicle registration system would be completely overhauled. Any drivers who ignore parking tickets would not be able to renew their registrations with the $10 million computerized system scheduled to begin on December 1st. People with outstanding tickets will be able to pay them on the spot, however, and then renew. Staggered renewals are to be introduced, eliminating the dreadful February lineups for licence plate validation stickers. The stickers obtained next year will be paid for on a monthly basis and expire on the owner's birthday, after which registration will run from birthday to birthday. Owners will be able to renew by mail, although the agency distribution system will continue; licence plates will follow the owner, not the vehicle; all passenger vehicles - regardless of engine size - will be charged the same registration fee, to be disclosed in the May 13th Budget.

ities throughout the world. Certainly current crises, such as those in the Middle East and the South Atlantic, give such concerns an even greater sense of urgency.

We are entering the season of seed planting. It's a time for renewal and optimism. As we have faith in a little seed, let's not underestimate the potency of our contribution, small and insignificant as it may seem, towards the growth of peace upon our planet.

According to Operation Dismantle there are presently 27 Canadian municipalities, involving about two and a half million eligible voters, which will have the question of nuclear disarmament included on the ballot paper in their Fall elections. Should not the people of Haliburton join the citizens of Ottawa, Toronto, Gravenhurst, California, and the numerous other large and small communities within Canada and throughout the world in casting our opinion on a survival issue?

Our aim should be to reduce the negative and accentuate the positive. Surely, a nuclear arsenal which can destroy all forms of life on earth several times over is very negative. Such a threat offers us not protection, but a fear of annihilation. The votes of the world's citizens against this massive nuclear buildup is very positive. Such a concerted action will show those in authority our concern and need for hope. Any positive expression, no matter how little, for preserving and improving life is a local issue, and needs our full support.

Gerry Feltham,
Ingoldsby, Ont.

Editor:

The total world arsenal of nuclear weapons today is equal to 1 1/2 million Hiroshimas. The superpowers can now destroy the world 60 times over. The use of 10 per cent of today's weapons would apparently destroy enough of the ozone layer to blind every eye on the planet who wasn't protected by something like a welder's mask.

A war involving nuclear weapons would not even remotely resemble World War Two and a comparison between World War Two tactics and possible nuclear war outcome is impossible and displays outmoded thinking and an ignorance of the destructive power of the current nuclear arsenal. Anyone gambling that, "whilst each side is armed to the teeth with these deadly weapons, nuclear annihilation is indeed prevented," is playing Russian roulette. You see, if they are wrong then the consequences of such an exchange would certainly reap such mass destruction that life on this planet as we know it, (if there was any planet left), would be destroyed and immeasurable pain and suffering, beyond man's comprehension, would ensue. There would be no winners as there were, perhaps, in World War Two.

Many factors make mutual deterrence an unsafe bet.

1. The development of a new generation of nuclear weapons such as the MX and the Trident II Missiles, and the Soviet's SS 20's. These focus on military targets and not civilian targets. Such weapons theoretically can first strike and destroy an enemy's weapons BEFORE they can be used against us. Therefore, our weapons must be kept on hairtrigger alert in order to launch on warning. In an international crisis, when tensions are running high, one nation or another would be that much more likely to "go first" if it believed that its own weapons might be destroyed.

2. The U.S. is moving away from the deterrence concept with the capacity for pinpoint accuracy and miniaturization of nuclear weapons. "Limited" nuclear war is becoming more feasible to the superpowers. However, their very contemplation of such an exchange is peace threatening. Nuclear war has never been fought before on any scale, and therefore there are no guarantees that such a war could be limited. It may "run away with itself unto annihilation".

3. As technology becomes even more complex the possibility of accidental war increases. As recently as June 3rd and June 8th, 1980, a computer circuit chip that malfunctioned nearly brought us to nuclear exchange. The Norad computer caused a full alert signaling a Soviet missile attack. With the new "launch on warning" or counterforce policy, the time for response will be diminished and the likelihood of nuclear war increased.

Consider, if in some future time disarmament (Global) does become a reality. It would apparently take, if we imagine a balanced process whereby each superpower dismantles 10 bombs per year, 2,850 years or 114 consecutive generations before stockpiles fell so low that the superpowers could destroy the whole world ONLY ONCE.

Over-kill, as the capacity to annihilate more than once is called, is not necessary even to the "mutual deterrent thinkers". Therefore, they at least should contemplate supporting a "freeze" on stockpiling so that some funds can be re-routed to the starving millions.

Liberals distort metric

- by Bill Scott, M.P. -

The federal Liberal government in Ottawa, aided and abetted by some of their Liberal counterparts in the provinces, continue to spread misinformation and distortions about the imposition of the metric system of measurement in Canada.

For instance, while the government maintains that metric conversion was fully debated in the House of Commons, and was adopted as the law of the land by all parties in the House, the metric system was in fact imposed on our country by Order-in-Council.

Although metric conversion was discussed by Parliament as far back as 1976, in Bill C-23, the main thrust of the debate concerned voluntary adoption of the metric system in some but not all segments of industry and trade.

At no time has Parliament ever debated the question of wholesale replacement of the Imperial system of measurement by any system of metric measurement, and at no time was it ever debated on the basis that change-over would be mandatory.

On July 8, 1981, the Canadian public were shocked to learn that the federal Privy Council had passed an Order-in-Council (1981-1705), decreeing that the S.I. system of metric would become mandatory in the retail food sector in Canada effective January 4, 1982. Full conversion of scales and other measuring equipment must be completed by December 31, 1983, and failure to comply would subject food retailers to stiff fines and/or jail terms.

Apart from the arbitrary nature of this Order-in-Council, the change-over to metric is costing food retailers, and the general public, hundreds of millions of dollars. More hundreds of millions of dollars are being spent by the federal government in bureaucratic costs, advertising costs, and other unnecessary expenses from the public treasury.

In the final realization that conversion to metric is going ahead without full debate in Parliament, and without any heed to whether or not Canadians want to convert, the general public are getting up in arms.

On April 6th, 1982, several of my Progressive Conservative colleagues in the House, and I, tabled a petition in Parliament containing approximately 183,000 signatures from concerned Canadians. These people, from only three urban areas in Canada, called upon the government to halt the headlong and mandatory conversion to metric and the abandonment of our traditional Imperial system of measurement.

The government minister responsible for metric conversion said only that metric conversion would go ahead as scheduled, and he said that all those Canadians who were opposed to metric were "misguided and misinformed."

None of our major trading partners are pushing ahead on a mandatory basis. The United States and Great Britain have eased off on conversion, and neither country has a timetable for full conversion to metric.

There is no truth to the claims that metric conversion only got started because it had the unanimous support of the provinces. It is purely and simply a federal Liberal ploy, and it has been ramrodded through the country without recourse to Parliament and without regard for public opinion.

Highway 35 & Main Street 286-1011

from the chamber

by Bob Stinson

At the end of next month we will be attending the Ontario Chamber of Commerce Annual Meeting and Convention in Hamilton. Last month we attended, for the first time, the Ontario Association of Convention Bureaux Convention in Brantford, an organization our Chamber just recently joined. We also took time to attend the Resorts Ontario Spring and Fall meetings this past year and two meetings of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce Executives and had John Fleming attend the annual conference of the Ontario Industrial Development Council. We are represented on the board and executive of the Central Ontario Travel Association which means meetings in Peterborough just about every month, and there will be an all day major Marketing Review meeting coming up next week.

Some question whether this is a good use of time and energy when there is so much to be done here at home. Some even suggest that attending conventions is a way of getting away for a good time. Such views tend to be short sighted and narrow in perspective. There may have been a time when a Chamber of Commerce could afford to stay within its boundaries to carry on its tasks, ignoring the outside world and its associations, but that time has long since passed.

Those who insist that what happens outside Haliburton County doesn't affect us here don't need to look too far for contradictions. Consider the effect for instance of the Acid Rain problem which is International in scope. Consider the effects of the nation's economy on us here along with the legislation that is being considered and developed to deal with it. The marketing programs and techniques that are being introduced by governments and various associations to develop Tourism in our province, can have very important effects on our future situation in the Highlands. Our region is recognized now as being underdeveloped considering its potential and its relative position to the marketplace and much will probably be happening here in the next few years. The forces that decide what will happen, to what extent, and how soon, are to a large degree happening outside Haliburton County. If we are not out there making our presence known and tuning in to the trends and realities of developments, we will not be in the picture.

What is true for the Chamber is true for individual businessmen as well. Those who are the most successful in their businesses are active members of associations that are appropriate to them. Through this communication they remain up to date on changes in their industry and adjustments they should make along with having the advantage of the lobbying clout of their association. This is most important in today's rapidly changing business world.

Speaking of marketing

The new Ministry of Tourism and Recreation is becoming more and more aggressive in their approach to marketing our province and are providing some very fine publications for this purpose. We are providing a lot of input to these books and continue to monitor them as they are produced to see that the information is correct. We sometimes find that they have published information simply because they are relying on you, the public, to respond to questionnaires which are either not returned or returned incorrectly filled out. Please insure that information about you is correct by returning these forms promptly and with accurate detail.

One publication we shall be taking issue with is called "Northern Ontario" and has been produced in co-operation with the Northern Ontario Tourist Outfitters Association. The concern is that this book replaces one formerly called "The Hunting and Fishing Guide" and will be distributed by the Ministry to anyone requesting information on Hunting and Fishing. The Ministry, it appears, feels that all hunting and fishing takes place in Northern Ontario at facilities of members of N.O.T.O.

Sign up for summer jobs

Each year about this time approvals start coming through for various summer works programs which will employ students in many fields. It is normally a prerequisite on any of these programs that the students be hired through the Canada Manpower offices in the region. Students are reminded therefore that in order to obtain summer employment you should now be registered at our Outreach Centre in Haliburton Village. It's located just above the Red & White.

Businesses also should contact the office for assistance in locating employees.

Man injured as car hits tree

A Scarborough man remains in critical condition in Toronto hospital following a single car accident Saturday on Airport Road in Dysart Township.

Stanley Garnet Holland, 27, of Scarborough was the driver of a van which skidded on the gravel surface on the roadway and crashed into a tree. Holland was thrown from the vehicle upon impact.

A passenger in the van, 20 year old Tehnaz Mistry, also of Scarborough, sustained minor injuries in the accident. Damage in the mishap was estimated at $2500.

Constable Brian Ladurantaye of the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police was the investigating officer.

Strikes rock

A soft gravel shoulder at the side of a county road is being blamed for an accident which resulted in $2500 damage to a car driven by a Haliburton man.

The driver, Raymond Selbie, 34, was travelling on County Road 1 in Snowdon Township April 19 when he drove onto the shoulder. The soft condition of the gravel held the wheel and drew the vehicle toward a collision with a rock cut. There were no injuries.

Constable Wim Magee investigated the accident.

EMPLOYERS OCAP can help

If you are an employer who wants to hire a young, eager person but can't meet the initial training costs...the Ontario government has an employment program just for you...

What is OCAP?

The Ontario Career Action Program is designed to help young people learn practical, marketable skills on the job. Many young people face a major problem. Lack of previous work experience prevents them from finding regular jobs related to their career goals and education, yet the only way they can get that experience is by being employed! OCAP was created to help overcome this dilemma by bringing together unemployed youths and employers, with the help of your local community college.

Earn while you learn

OCAP provides on-the-job training for a period of up to 16 weeks. Trainees will receive an allowance of $100 per week plus 4 per cent vacation pay from the Ontario Government. Income Tax, Canada Pension Plan and Unemployment Insurance premiums will be deducted. Trainees are responsible for their own health coverage but most trainees will qualify for premium assistance. Enquire at your local OHIP office.

Who qualifies?

TRAINERS: All Ontario businesses, industries, provincial government ministries, colleges, universities, Crown corporations, municipal and federal governments are eligible to participate.

You must ensure:

- * that the training will be for a period of up to 16 weeks, depending on the complexity of the job duties
- * that there are good prospects for employment of the trainee with you after OCAP
- * OR that the skills acquired in training are marketable in the community, so that job prospects for the trainee are good with other businesses
- * that no regular full-time or part-time employees are displaced in any way by the introduction of an OCAP trainee

Representatives from Sir Sandford Fleming College will be available:

Wed., May 12 1:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Thurs., May 13 1:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Please drop in to our Haliburton campus to discuss your training needs or give us a call at 705-457-1680.

OCAP CAN HELP

Are you between the ages of 16 and 24?
Have you been out of school for at least 3 months?

Are you actively looking for your first full-time, career-related job?

If the answer is yes to each of these questions, the Ontario government has just the program for you...

The Ontario Career Action Program
You may be finding it extremely difficult to get a job in your chosen line of work because you lack experience; at the same time, the only way to obtain this experience is by getting a job! The Government of Ontario has designed the Ontario Career Action Program (OCAP) to help you over this frustrating hurdle.

Earn while you learn

The OCAP training period lasts up to 16 weeks, depending on the complexity of training. During this time, you receive a training allowance of $100 a week.

Get practical, on-the-job training

OCAP gives you practical, on-the-job training. You learn in a real work environment, one of the best ways to improve your job skills, work habits, and productivity. This work experience should increase your chances of obtaining that first all-important regular job. It should also help you to compete for jobs with more self-confidence. OCAP will not find you a permanent job, but it will help you to find one for yourself.

Find that permanent job

Job-search counselling and career guidance are also part of the OCAP experience. You will participate in workshops on how to search for employment effectively, how to write a good resume, and how to present yourself at a job interview. You will also be encouraged to apply for regular jobs and given help in arranging job interviews during your training.

How to apply

Application forms for participation in the Ontario Career Action Program and further information are available from the OCAP office at your local community college or Canada Employment Centre.

Representatives from S.S.F.C. will be at our Haliburton campus Wed., May 12, 1982 & Thurs., May 13, 1982 from 9:00 - 12:00 to receive applications and provide further information on OCAP. Please drop in or give us a call at 705-457-1680.

The one that didn't get away

Les Alton displays the catch of a lifetime: a 29lb 2 oz Lake Trout.

When Les Alton called his wife Sunday after a morning's fishing, he told her, "call for a backhoe dear; we're gonna need it to get these fish out of the trunk." Alton's wife had heard his 'fish stories' before, and she thought this was just one more.

But, according to Les, when he pulled a 29 pound, two ounce lake trout from the trunk of his Dodge, and three 25 pounders to go with it, "her eyes lit up like saucers."

Les calls Sunday's catch "the dream of a lifetime." "I never thought I'd see the day," Alton told The Times while contemplating the 29 pound leviathan outside The Times office Monday. "The biggest fish I ever caught before this weighed 4 1/2 pounds, and I caught that through the ice on Bob Lake."

Alton took the giant using minnows on a creek between Port Hope and Trenton. Les, his son, a nephew and a friend made a casual stop Sunday morning when they saw cars lining the bridge over the creek on Highway 2. "Twenty-five people were fishing -- some of them had camped overnight -- and nobody's caught a thing," Alton says. "We stopped and threw our lines in and in an hour and a half we had all four." Alton says the 29 pound brute took all four men ten minutes to land.

A Port Hope conservation officer told Alton that the fish is the biggest he'd ever seen come out of the creek. And how long does it take a trout to get that big? According to the officer, Fish and Wildlife personnel clipped the monster's tail during a program conducted 10 years ago.

Council will reconsider grant request from social agency

Haliburton County Social Planning Council has won reconsideration of its grant request from Haliburton County, but County Warden Ron Gambell is still upset by, the conduct of the organization in sending a letter to county newspapers regarding the initial refusal to fund the group.

While councillors voted in favour of reconsidering HCSPC's request for a $100 grant for operating costs in 1982, Gambell told council at its meeting April 21, "as far as I'm concerned, I don't want to see them get any money at all; not after the letter they have sent to the papers."

HCSPC chairwoman Susan Clements sent the letter addressed to Gambell to The Times where it was published in the April 7 issue, the letter stated, "it is disheartening to learn that county council has decided to support the business community at the expense of the social service sector...It is indeed unfortunate that HCSPC received no funding or written endorsement of their activities from county council." The letter went on to "respectfully request" the county to reconsider its decision regarding funding.

Warden Gambell told The Times following the Wednesday meeting that Clements had "jumped the gun" by sending the letter. "The county was holding back its letter turning down the grant request in order to reconsider the matter," Gambell said. "Mrs. Clements has the right to express her opinion, but it was not necessary to send a letter to the press; it's not right and it's not fair," Gambell said.

According to Clements' letter, she learned that the HCSPC's request had been turned down in an article published in the Haliburton County Echo following the county budget session March 17.

Gambell also said that the county has offered the use of the Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home bus for use by the Home Support Services, an organization formed by HCSPC, and that gas and a driver will be provided by the Minden Rotary Club. "We don't have money right now, but we want to help in other ways," Gambell said. The HCSPC has repeatedly turned down suggestions from Gambell and other county councillors that it approach local service clubs for funding.

Glynne Lewis, Lutterworth Deputy Reeve and chairman of the Children's Services Advisory Committee, said following the meeting that Gambell's comment was "wrong": "I consider that as the Warden he shouldn't have made that kind of comment; I deplored it," Lewis said. Lewis has been pressing county council to reconsider the HCSPC's funding request since it was turned down last month. Lewis told the Wednesday meeting that HCSPC is "unique, in that it is a volunteer organization working in the county's interest, with no other funding outside county council."

Clements said following the announcement that she was "delighted" that the county will reconsider funding the group. "In reading the paper after the budget meeting, it looked very much like the final decision had been made," Clements said. "I took that as notification that we wouldn't receive funding," she added.

County backs return of provincial wolf bounty

County Council has moved to support a motion by the County of Carling requesting the provincial government to reinstate the wolf bounty removed in 1972.

The county of Carling has also circulated the motion to township councils in the county, but most have decided that, since wolf bounty is administered by the county, the decision on Carling's request is a county matter.

Lutterworth, Minden, Stanhope and Dysart councils all referred the matter to County Council, while Snowdon moved to support Carling in its appeal to the province.

The Ministry of Natural Resources left the wolf bounty issue to the discretion of individual counties when it removed the $25 bounty in 1972. Haliburton has been paying a $25 bounty on wolves since that time, with $800 being budgeted for the bounty in 1982.

Bob Wood, President of the Minden and District Trappers' Council, says the provincial bounty should definitely be left on. Wood told The Times Friday that the bounty would provide, "more incentive to cut wolf populations down to better levels" "It would keep the deer population at a level that would bring in more money from the fall hunt," Wood said.

Fish and Wildlife supervisor with the Ministry of Natural Resources, Dave Atkinson had no comment on the rights and wrongs of wolf bounty. "It's a political deal," Atkinson said in an interview Friday. "Sure, wolves will kill deer, but we'll always have wolves and their population will increase as the deer do," Atkinson said. "I'm not in a position to say we should or shouldn't have a wolf bounty," Atkinson added. "There are always hunters who want it left on and naturalists who want it abolished. The issue gets people excited on both sides," Atkinson explained.

American South on Haliburton High stage

- by David Swail -

The atomic bomb is about to drop -- on Dogpatch, U.S.A.

So opens the Haliburton Highlands High School's production of 'L'il Abner', and so begins the "search for something necessary," the only thing that can keep Washington from evacuating Dogpatch and turning the tiny backwoods hamlet of the American south into a gigantic radioactive crater.

The students of Hal High performed a splendid adaptation of the late Al Capp's comic strip to a packed house at the school Friday night. The search for something necessary turned up nothing to placate the obsessed Dr. Finsdale from Washington -- played ably by chemistry teacher Glen Scully. A 1925 Sears Roebuck catalogue, (special Dogpatch edition), leaves the government research team unimpressed, but after Mammy's Yokumberry tonic transforms a wimpy government bureaucrat into a he-man in the Dogpatch mould, the white-coated war mongers rush back to their labs in a frenzy, L'il Abner and a pack of homely Dogpatch boys in tow. The plans for nuclear devastation are indefinitely postponed while work on the tonic begins.

Beth Cooper as Mammy Yokum, the pipe-chewing matriarch of Dogpatch, was the standout not only among the Dogpatch rabble but in the entire cast as well. Her presence on stage, from yellow gumboots to corncob pipe, was always captivating. Patty Higgins was another very strong member of the cast, her voice in numbers like the resplendent "Jubilation T. Cornpone" set a standard for the company.

Director Stephen Phillips has done a fine job in casting strong leads in the play. Jamie Wooden as L'il Abner has great presence on stage and an easy manner that was a pleasure to watch, as does Craig Bugden as Pappy Yokum and Sharon Williams as Daisy Mae. Mr. Phillips might have made more use of props, however, and the Dogpatch set, though well designed and constructed by the school shop class under the direction of Bill Valentine and Bob Penfold, was not well incorporated in the action of the play.

The full company musical numbers were the definite high points in each of the two acts. Russell O'Brien's Dr. Krogmeyer, and "Oh, Happy Day" drew a loud ovation from the sell out crowd. To open the second set, O'Brien's dancing provided the best moments of choreography in the show, and the removal of Dr. Finsdale's lab coat was another high point in a very well executed number.

"Put 'em back," was also well received. The new Dogpatch 'supermen' who have been transformed by Mammy's miracle tonic, sport he-men's frames but have lost their former country lust for their wives. Their Dogpatch wives, played by Janelle Robinson, Shona Ross, Angela Googh, Lori Valentine and Cheryl Wright, assert themselves in a feisty, well danced number, demanding the return of the husbands they gave up for the experiment in the first act; and in the finale they return as they left, homely but loving.

In all, Haliburton High School's "L'il Abner" was an outstanding production, from the lively score provided by the fifteen member pit band directed by Rick Vaughan, to the colourful costumes and set. Judging by Friday's audience, the show was an unqualified success. Producer Nancy Robichaud deserves tremendous credit for a sparkling and original production.

And what becomes of Dogpatch? Even though Mammy's tonic doesn't save the day in the end, Dogpatch's late founding father, Jubilation T. Cornpone, does. He is declared a national hero and his humble statue in the centre of Cornpone Square is declared a national shrine.

Province to help with county status study

The provincial government and the county budget committee have embarked on a study of the county's provisional status. The purpose of the investigation is to determine the impact on the county if it were to attain full county status.

Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey told council April 21 that Ted Foster, senior policy advisor with the Ministry of Municipal Affairs, met with the budget committee April 14 to discuss terms of the study and review the county's concerns in the proposed change.

According to County Clerk Win Lahay, members of the budget committee asked Foster that grants currently received by the county be maintained at present levels after the change in status is made.

Snowdon Reeve Bob Vick told Fearrey following his report Wednesday that he is still concerned the county will lose grant revenue if provisional status is dropped. Fearrey told Vick that the county would not lose money if the status is changed. He said after the Wednesday meeting that he has received verbal confirmation that the county grants from the province will not be affected by the change.

In a report on the status study, Fearrey told council that the Haliburton Act, the legislation which identifies Haliburton as a provisional county, is out of date and in need of revision. He told councillors that a new Haliburton Act would "solidify the county", and prevent Haliburton from being amalgamated with surrounding counties like Peterborough or Victoria.

Foster told the budget committee that his Ministry expects a final report on Haliburton County to be ready by June of this year. Once the terms of a new Haliburton Act have been approved by county council, the document will be made official by an act of the legislature.

Artist offers insight into art at Rails' End Gallery also in Mexico City. He has lectured extensively and sat on numerous juries. A Canadian citizen since 1973, Sewell is a co-founder of the Open Studio in Toronto. His work is currently showing at the Mira Goddard Gallery in Toronto.

The C-I-L Exhibit is showing at the Rails' End Gallery and also the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden, so patrons still have a chance to see if Sewell's perspective on modern art illuminates any of the 46 pieces now on display.

Toronto artist Richard Sewell has an eye for modern painting and a knack for explaining it. Twenty patrons of the Rails' End Gallery listened to Sewell's perspective Friday night as the renowned print maker and lecturer offered his views on the C-I-L Exhibit currently being shown at the Rails' End Gallery.

Sewell grouped the twenty-one pieces in three categories: Frescoe, Illustration and the "Painter's Painting".

He sees the Frescoe as a painting that could practically be "cut apart with scissors," since it is generally put together in sections or panels.

The Illustration, according to Sewell, is just that; a picture which illustrates or tells a story. Sewell contrasts this mode to the third of his groupings, the "Painter's Painting." He calls the painter's painting one that cannot be broken down or dissected - simply an expression of the artist's feelings.

The third group has a larger significance for the act of viewing paintings in general, so Sewell feels. He told the group that some paintings in the Rails' End Exhibit "can't be understood," while others are, more emphatically, "Not to be understood." The painter's painting is clearly a member of the latter group.

Sewell uses slides of the exhibit to illustrate his point of view and in the light of his training and career, it is an informed one.

Sewell has had 26 solo exhibitions in Canada and England since he became a Master Printer in 1970. He has trained at institutes in his native Missouri - both in St. Louis and Kansas City and

by Ron Reid - Federation of Ontario Naturalists

One hundred years ago, Henry Scadding described the valley of the Don River as dressed with lofty pines and handsome meadows, inhabited by wild creatures, and with salmon in its clear waters. The modern Don, flowing through the heartland of Metropolitan Toronto, is a far cry from that pristine state.

In mid-April, a total of seventy canoes wet their bottoms in the tenth annual Don River Day, to check the health of the lower reaches of Canada's most urban river. For the most part, the pines and pleasant meadows are gone, replaced by tenacious willows and box elders, views of factories and apartment towers, and the constant roar of a nearby expressway. Much of the river is clad in concrete, rock, or pilings. The unprotected parts continue to erode as a result of the extra water dumped in the Don from thousands of acres of impervious parking lots and buildings upstream.

In its upper reaches, the Don still starts out pure and fresh, but the strain of mile upon mile of storm sewers and eroding banks takes its toll. The lower Don looks polluted, and it is polluted. Huge blackened mounds of snow dribble their witches' brew of salt and chemicals from the riverside. Tons of sediments, so thick that your paddle disappears within inches, have filled the mouth of the Don with a layer so deadly that its dredging is being held up to study the harmful effects of moving the polluted silt.

The fate of the Don is a lesson to all of us who are concerned about keeping our environment clean, safe and usable. Yet we can still hold hope for even the Don. It is slowly, very slowly, becoming cleaner as better controls go on industries and adjacent land uses. Hundreds of people still care enough to brave its turbid waters each spring by canoe, and to declare by their actions that the Don is worth saving. And on the sandy south-facing banks, the yellow colts-foot still blooms in spring, signalling that nature too is ready to help in the renewal of the Don.

Rotary helps the community

- by Susan Clements -

The work of the Haliburton Rotary Club deserves commendation, especially for its considerable contributions in the area of social services.

The club has been in existence for thirty-eight years, and in 1944, when it received its charter, the President was Ron Curry. From its inception, Rotary members have aspired to high ethical standards in their personal and business lives. A respect for friendliness and understanding among members is observed. The club's main goals are: provision of service to the handicapped, promotion of Haliburton County and the upgrading of local recreational facilities.

To accomplish its goals, the Rotary Club has a membership of approximately fifty. The operation is directed by the President, who is David Bishop, a Vice President, four elected Directors, a Past President, and an appointed Secretary and Treasurer. The four Directors are each responsible for an area of service.

The first area is that of Club Service, and involves aspects such as programme, public relations, attendance, sick and visitation, and Rotary information. Presently, the Director charged with this responsibility is Brian Black. Community Service is an area directed by Paul Wilson, and includes support of Five Counties Children's Centre, which is based in Peterborough. The club contributed generously to the capital costs of establishing the centre, and the transportation costs of local children to the centre. In addition, the club assists in covering the cost of a physiotherapist from Five Counties, who visits Haliburton County once a week. During the Easter Seal Society's campaign week, Rotary members prepare the mailings, collect the remittances, give a portion of the remittance to the society, and retain a portion in a trust fund to assist local handicapped children. The members also send local handicapped children to summer camp. Rotary provides bursaries and scholarships to Haliburton Highlands Secondary School graduates, and contributes to the loan fund established for students wishing to continue their education.

The third area is Vocational Service, which is directed by Jim Scheffee. This area includes recruitment of members, and participation in the planning and implementation of Career Week.

Finally, there is an area entitled International Service, under the direction of Dale Robinson. Members are informed of projects undertaken by Rotary International and provide an incoming and out-going student exchange each year.

In addition to the four areas of service, there are club activities, which include the summer and winter carnivals, Snowarama, provision of Christmas parcels, a Santa Claus party for children and a curling bonspiel. The former two activities are the principal means of fund raising. Doug Devolin is responsible for the managing of the club activities.

Each member is encouraged to identify a local need and present his proposal to the membership. A formal report is submitted by the appropriate committee to the board for review. The final decision on pursuit of a project is made by the membership.

Other activities undertaken by the club include the creation of Rotary Beach, financial assistance for the building of the new park, provision of a resuscitator and wheelchairs, transportation of children to recreational events, financial and administrative assistance to the museum, and development of the Sam Slick Park, adjacent to the high school.

The club has undergone changes over its thirty-eight year history; however, the enthusiasm and dedication to the founding principles remains constant. In the words of David Bishop, the club's most valuable asset is that of the voluntary contribution of its members.

MOE rates Raven Lake

Raven Lake, in Sherborne Township has received a less than favourable rating in a recently released report of the Ministry of the Environment. The report is one of a series covering certain contaminants in provincial lakes.

According to the most recent report, lake trout taken from the lake which are over 26 inches in length should not be eaten because of possible mercury contamination. Certain limits have been placed on the consumption of lake trout between 18 and 26 inches in length with the number of meals of fish from the lake varying with the length of visit to the area. Under 18 inches, according to the Ministry of Environment bulletin, there are no restrictions.

In the same lake, restriction is suggested for smallmouth bass between 14 and 22 inches in size.

The ministry is constantly surveying lakes in the province for various types of contamination. Reports are issued regularly with the latest information being contained in the Guide to Eating Ontario Sports Fishing published this year. Information about lakes in any part of the province can be obtained from the Ministry of Environment or through the Minden office of the M.N.R.

Midgets bow to Langton 7 - 2

Jubilation reigned at the Dysart arena Saturday night, but to the chagrin of a crowd of 700 plus, it wasn't the Haliburton Midgets who were celebrating; they dropped their final matchup to Langton 7 - 2 and settled for the consolation trophy in the Ontario championship.

It was a disappointing night for the Midgets, who won three straight games against Langton to earn a crack at the provincial title in Saturday's showdown. The Midgets showed great drive in turning the series around from a 3 - 0 deficit, but, after a sparkling first period they seemed to lack the finish to subdue the strong Langton club.

The Haliburton squad opened with an outstanding twenty minutes of hockey. Right from the opening warmup the standing room only crowd sensed determination in the Midgets. The Haliburton players dominated the first period, with a display of outstanding forechecking that took the play away from Langton repeatedly. Langton was clearly rattled by the Haliburton hustle, and along with a great performance from Haliburton netminder Dave Storey, the Midgets ended the period with a 1 - 0 lead looking like the title was already theirs. Captain Scottie Rae netted the goal for Haliburton with Bernie Upton Assisting.

Haliburton's spark continued through the second period, but after Langton tied it and then moved ahead 2 - 1 seven minutes later, the Midgets were playing to catch up.

Langton tied the game at a goal at the 6:14 mark of the second. A sign proclaiming "Daver the Saver" proved apt throughout the period; sensational saves by Storey kept the score even for Haliburton several times. With thirteen and a half minutes gone Langton moved ahead by a goal, going up 2 - 1 on a high wrist shot that beat Storey over the shoulder from close in front. With 2:15 on the clock Haliburton evened the score on a clearing pass from the side. Jeff Bain alone in front found Langton's netminder flat on the ice and he popped an easy one into the top half to tie the game at 2. Scottie Rae assisted on Bain's goal.

With only a minute left, a weak moment for the Haliburton defence gave Langton the go ahead goal. A Langton forward moved around from behind the Haliburton net unmolested, jamming the puck in the corner while Storey and a Haliburton defenceman watched their knees in the crease.

The final period was one of hustle by Langton and missed chances for Haliburton. Langton's quick goal to start the period, coming with less than a minute gone, put Haliburton down by two. Storey was beaten high on the right side by a quick shot off the face-off - he had no chance on the play. Haliburton came close a minute later, but after a scramble in front a Haliburton goal was disallowed, coming after the whistle. It was a close call and a good one that was not loudly protested by Haliburton.

The Midgets took a two minute minor for charging at the 2:09 mark, one of very few penalties handed out in the game, although the series itself was marked by rough play on both sides. Langton connected on their power play with 40 seconds gone in the penalty, when a Langton forward drifted across the crease and lifted the puck high into the left corner from in front.

The fifth goal seemed to spark Langton forward; after a listless first period they started skating in the third, and with 8:05 they clicked again to take an insurmountable 6 - 2 lead. Langton added another in the dying minutes of the game and the whistle went with Haliburton defeated by a score of 7 - 2.

The action was tense around the Haliburton Midget goal during the final game Saturday. Netminder Dave Storey lies sprawled on the ice as two of his team mates scramble to keep the puck clear of the crease. A third Haliburton player deals with an intruder from the Langton team.

Despite the loss the Haliburton club had an outstanding season and a remarkable play-off record. Although their defensive game was not strong Saturday, an injury to top forward Kevin Warburton hurt the club in the third and deciding period. Saturday, Warburton took a skate in the neck early in the second period and continued to play with a cut that required seven stitches after the game. Warburton tore ligaments in his left knee in the third period and was unable to play for the remainder of the game.

Anyone who followed the Midgets this year will undoubtedly look forward to seeing them in action again in the fall. Congratulations are due to a high-spirited and hard-skating team for a commendable showing and a fine finish.

Members of the Haliburton Midgets for 1982 are:

Township leads drive for more trail funding

Support is growing for a motion being circulated by Lutterworth Township council that asks the provincial government to redirect a portion of snowmobile registration fees into trail maintenance and construction.

Lutterworth councillor Bill Valentine tabled the proposal at a meeting of Lutterworth council January 21, requesting the Ministry of Transportation and Communications allot half of the revenue from snowmobile licence fees to various snowmobile clubs for construction and maintenance of trails. Dysart, Minden, Sherborne et al Snowdon and Stanhope have all submitted motions of support for the idea to the ministry, and Lutterworth clerk-treasurer Wayne Hughes says more support from county municipalities may be forthcoming.

The move was initiated in response to the financial problems being felt by snowmobile clubs throughout Ontario. Provincial funding for trail upkeep has decreased each year for several years, and club organizers are finding that membership fees do not meet the increasing costs of maintaining trails and equipment.

Hughes has been told by officials at the Ministry of Transportation and Communications that the government will be responding to the councils' motions in the near future.

Changes needed in lamb industry

- Agricultural report -

Some major changes must be made by the Ontario lamb industry if it is to survive and flourish. This is the conclusion suggested in a report on lamb production in Ontario, prepared for the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food by a private consulting firm.

This firm did an extensive review of Ontario's lamb industry last summer and fall, and presented their report recently. There is a lot of interesting reading in this report for anyone involved in raising sheep.

Four major problems were identified.

First, many Ontario producers do not understand their production costs, and are selling their lamb on today's markets at below their breakeven cost. This lack of knowledge helps cause the second problem area; the lack of good farm management in such areas as feed conversion, and breeding/lambing productivity.

Third, Ontario lamb producers must become more market-oriented, and raise lambs that meet market needs. The seasonal nature of the Ontario industry and the small number of lamb buyers have helped create the fourth problem which is wide price fluctuations which limit future planning.

The report suggests there are three major areas where lamb producers should be able to increase their returns.

- An improvement in the efficiency of farm operations through better management techniques, would increase the profitability of raising lamb.

- Opportunities do exist for strengthening the lamb market at the farmgate, butcher, and ethnic levels.

- Supplies and prices could be stabilized through improved information about markets, and establishment of revised selling practices, and the stretching of lamb supplies over a greater proportion of the year.

The report recognizes the dominant role which New Zealand plays with over 50 per cent of the total lamb in the province supplied by that country, with most of it coming in frozen form.

Rather than tackling New Zealand lamb head-on, the report says the Ontario producers should develop a strategy to increase their market penetration in the butcher, ethnic and farmgate markets.

Before Ontario producers can hope to supply stores and the retail chain, hotel, restaurant and institution markets, they must have better credibility in the areas of both quantity and quality.

This report is being studied by many people in Ontario, including local groups of producers, such as the Victoria County Sheep Producers.

Financial problems

We've heard a lot about financial problems on Ontario farms during the past 6 months.

Farmers, like all businessmen, are suffering as a result of the economic recession that's affecting Canada and many countries of the world today.

Basically, there just isn't enough money coming in to the business to cover the costs of the materials and services which are needed to keep the farm or business operating, and still have something left over to live on.

A lot of people blame high interest rates on borrowed capital as their main problem. Certainly high interest payments are of serious concern, but maybe they are like "the straw that broke the camel's back". Maybe there are other problems on those farms which are in financial difficulty.

Many farmers have believed that "Bigger is Better". They have been increasing the number of acres they farm; they have added more barns to hold more livestock; and they have purchased larger and larger machinery to do their work more quickly and easily.

If they increased their farm operation slowly, and if they used income from the farm to pay for the increases, it has worked satisfactorily. However, some farmers got bigger fast, and used a lot of borrowed money to do it. Many of these farmers are in difficulty today.

Some farmers believe that "New is Better than Old". As a result, they purchase new equipment, they build new buildings rather than renovate old ones, and they jump to try out new ideas as soon as possible.

Again, if they have the money saved up to do this, there is seldom a problem. However, if it's mainly borrowed money they're using, financial problems can occur.

Some farmers tell us you "must progress somehow every year or your business will go backwards".

This also is a myth. If your farm business is at the size you can comfortably manage and get the returns you require, why change? We've all heard about farmers whose business got too big for their management ability, and they lost in the end.

If you've been believing one or more of these myths - "Bigger is Better", "New is Better than Old", and "If you don't progress each year, your business will go backwards", now is a good time to discard them. Hopefully you haven't followed them so far that your business is now in financial difficulty.

This has been a busy week here at Hyland Crest. To tell you all about it I'll do my very best.

We have Doris back again with nice rosy cheeks; she has been on holidays for the past week. Herb Shorter is in hospital undergoing tests. His wife is left behind to entertain their guests.

A lovely service in the chapel Sunday night. If I didn't tell you all about it - it wouldn't seem just right. Reverend Burgess read the lesson and also led in prayer, then the Pettit family took over from there. They played and sang some sacred songs and entertained us so - when they came unto the end we were loath to let them go.

Then Monday morning, when we do all kinds of tricks. Rolling the ball into the box was won by Robert Krick. Then to finish off the day just right, we watched two interesting movies Monday night.

Tuesday morning Rev. Miller held a nice communion service in the chapel here. Then Tuesday night the Watson-Smith trio came to entertain us all. It was allemande left in the corners and promenade in the hall. Wednesday morning Doris took some "kids" from here to Haliburton to see the Children's Show. They said it was really funny - they were glad that they did go.

Wednesday afternoon ladies in the craft room doing this and that. Some were a little lean - some a little fat.

Wednesday night was "Games Night" You mustn't be conceited - when you think you're good you'll probably get defeated.

Walter Harper came to see us Tuesday afternoon. We didn't expect to see him back from the south so soon.

My wife and I like it here, everyone is so kind. If you don't care to exercise you just sit on your behind.

The ladies from the Pentecostal Church in Allsaw served a nice lunch and tea party Thursday afternoon.

Our manager has been away a lot from here this week, I trust it was on business and not pleasure he did seek. Friday afternoon "Sing Song Time" in the gym. Mrs. Coburn sang "Bless This House" and we sang some good old hymns. Fred Ballard played the music which greatly pleased my spouse. Some ladies from Hyland Crest attended a Birthday Party for Dora Dawson. We wish her all the best.

When life seems just a dreary grind
And things seem fated to annoy
Say something nice to someone else
And watch the world light up with joy.

Ride tops million

The figures are in, and this year's Snowarama for Timmy raised over one million dollars across the province.

This is the first year, according to Lionel Walker, organizer of the Haliburton County snowmobile run, that the province-wide total has topped the million dollar mark. The ride has been operating for eight years.

The Haliburton County effort was divided into two rides this year with riders following separate routes from Haliburton and Minden. The Rotary Clubs in both communities sponsor the fund raising rides. This year the Haliburton County ride raised over $24,000.

The grand total for the province was $1,043,251.

Leone Skead did the decorations which were yellow and white, and Isabel Gibbs, from Maple Lake made the birthday cake, also in yellow and white. Among the more than forty guests were Mrs. Annie Dawson of Thornhill, Mrs. Gertie Dawson and Mrs. Minnie Dawson of Maple Lake, and Mrs. Dora Dawson from Peterborough, all sisters-in-law of Dora. The party was planned by the ACW and was a lovely surprise for the guest of honor.

Les and Donna Johnson are home after spending two weeks in Florida, David and Diane Dollo visited with the Johnsons for 10 days.

Reverend and Mrs. George Elliott are home after spending a pleasant holiday with Mrs. Elliott's parents in New York.

Marianne and Caesar Corvinelli's baby son was christened last Sunday in St. Wilfred Church in Toronto. The godparents are David and Diane Dollo. The baby's name is Antony Gino. After the ceremony there was a reception held for the immediate families. Our best wishes to all.

Tickets are being sold for a quilt in Dresden Plate pattern by the ACW of St. Paul's Parish, to be raffled off at the summer bazaar on July 10. Tickets are 50¢ or 3 for $1.00.

The 100 inch loom to be installed in the Common Room of the Minden Cultural Centre, is scheduled to arrive this week. It will be used by the Weaver's Group of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts, and will be moved into the Centre at the close of the current C-I-L exhibit. It will be in use almost immediately. The loom can be worked by two people at a time and everyone is welcome to view the weaving. I understand the weavers have some very ambitious undertakings in the offing.

There will be free movies for children and adults shown in the Common Room of the Minden Cultural Centre, this Friday. The movies for adults will be as follows - The Story of Tea, Here is Canada, and other documentaries. These will be shown from 2 to 3 p.m. The movies for children will consist of stories and cartoons. These will be shown from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend.

A lovely surprise party was held last Sunday for Bill Gliddon, choirmaster of St. George's Anglican Church, at the home of Jim and Glenda Burke in Haliburton. All the members of the choir and their families turned out to honor Mr. Gliddon for his twenty years of service to the community. A delicious potluck supper was served, after which the choirmaster was presented with a purse of money. It was a wonderful party and everyone enjoyed themselves. Our congratulations to Mr. Gliddon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Masson of Peterborough visited with Mrs. Verna Jarvis on Sunday.

Hi! What lovely weather we had over the weekend. So nice to be able to get out and clean up the yard somewhat. Supposed to be cooler by the time you read this but I have proof positive that we are coming into the throes of better weather. The proof? The old man was cleaning up his fishing gear and buying new tackle, so there you are, summer will soon be here.

Pastor and Mrs. Wicks, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Wicks from Colburne and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Barker from Peterborough had dinner and spent the Sunday with Ken, Jeanne and Heather Bowron.

Had a lovely trip to Toronto to Edwards Gardens last Thursday. The Minden and District Horticulture Society was the convenor for the trip to the flower show. From there we went to Oshawa Centre and did some shopping, had supper then came home.

The show was a bit disappointing in the fact that it was so crowded. We couldn't see anything too much although what we did see was beautiful. I sure wish I could grow flowers and bushes as well.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. Bedlington is back in hospital - hope she will be up and about soon again. We'd like to take this opportunity to wish her a very Happy Birthday on Wednesday, April 28. She will be 100 years young.

Mrs. Glynne Lewis is spending a few days in Oakville to be with her mother on her birthday.

Major Glynne Lewis spent the weekend at Ridley College with the Cadets in Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Brubacher were visiting friends over the weekend. They are looking well but are missed very much.

Mrs. Lil Porter spent last weekend in Oshawa with her son and daughter-in-law and family Bill and Jean.

The Minden Women's

Institute will be going on a bus trip sometime in June, so if you would like to go, keep watching the paper for further details.

Don't forget the Horticultural Society meeting in the Common Room of the Minden Library/Cultural Centre at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 4.

Mary Carr is at home again after an operation in Lindsay Hospital. Mrs. Carr is doing as well as can be expected.
